

STORY OF SUICIDE WHICH SOLVED PHILADELPHIA'S MURDER

who was driven to the Wilton apartment by Edward Powell. Despite the fact that he is credited with having had considerable money with him at the time, the fact remains that he was broke. We believe that Lewis, having no money with which to pay for his ride with the Misses Kyle and wishing to keep up appearances, called upon Miss Roberts or Colbert, her real name, and demanded that she return to him the $400 diamond ring he gave her. It was he who made her this costly present—no one else.

KILLED HER FOR RING?
In the quarrel that followed Lewis attempted to take the ring by sheer force. She was a strong woman, and a fierce struggle ensued. In that struggle he first stunned and then killed her. This we are certain of, and thus we are certain that Lewis was the murderer.

Capt. Tate says that the ring was not found, but he believes the pawn ticket will be located in Lewis' effects. "It is a significant fact," Tate said, "that when Miss Roberts had a man caller she always called Miss Collins on the phone to tell Miss Collins who was with her. But this time when Miss Collins telephoned Miss Roberts did not tell Lewis' name, but from the description Miss Roberts gave Miss Collins and which Miss Collins retold us it was very easy to identify Lewis as the man."

BELIEVES HIM INNOCENT.
Miss Mabel Kyle, the Germantown school teacher who, with her sister, was Lewis' guest at dinner the night of the murder, said at midnight:

"I still believe Mr. Lewis was innocent. He was the victim of a ghastly blunder. He was an honorable man. He found out that he had been drawn into this terrible murder and ended his life because he had given up hope of extricating himself. He was innocent."

HAD MABEL'S PHONE NUMBER.
In a little memorandum book found in a pocket of Lewis' coat the Atlantic City police found the telephone number, "Poplar 5327," written in his handwriting. This is the telephone number of Grace Roberts and appears to furnish convincing proof that his statement late this afternoon to Miss May Kyle that he did not even know the model was untrue.

Nevertheless, at an early hour this morning the reasons advanced by Capt. Tate for asserting Lewis to be guilty of murder were being questioned. As he was leaving the Bellevue-Stratford late Thursday night to take the Misses Kyle to their home in the taxicab in which he thereafter drove to Miss Roberts' apartment he is said on excellent authority to have said to her: "If this was true he would not necessarily have had funds to pay the driver's bill."

Could Have Got Money.
It is pointed out in addition that he could have been driven back to his hotel and have had the bill paid there without any difficulty by the hotel. "The question is being asked: 'How do the police know that just before they killed the model he demanded back a diamond ring which they say he gave her, and when she refused, attempted to take it from her finger?'" Capt. Tate has given no basis to make such a statement appear to be one of fact instead of surmise.

Today a friend of Miss Roberts said that Grace Roberts had bought the four and one-quarter carat diamond ring with her own money.

THE PHONE CONVERSATION

At five minutes past 4 this afternoon, while the police were just getting well started in the search for Lewis, Kyle telephoned the home of the Misses Kyle, 424 West Brighthelm street, Germantown.

The telephone call, it is said, came from a point in Philadelphia. The Misses Kyle and Mabel Kyle are the Germantown school teachers whom the Pittsburgh took to a restaurant last Thursday evening. Later he took them home and asked them to return to town in the taxicab which left him at the Wilton apartments. Miss Ethel Kyle told a reporter, who was interviewing her when the telephone bell rang, the text of Lewis' conversation.

Lewis Almost Frantic

"Of course, he's broken hearted," said Miss Kyle. "His voice sounded almost frantic. The poor fellow is almost frantic. 'What shall I do?' he asked me. 'Isn't this terrible?'" "Then I asked him if he knew the dead girl. His answer came back quickly: 'She's absolutely no beauty.' 'I did not know her. Of course, I didn't.' 'Then he asked me again for advice.' 'Told him to call up the detective bureau and tell them where he was Friday morning.'"

"Why didn't you let the detectives know about your movements on the night of the murder before this?" I asked. He answered: "I thought the easiest way out was the best."

Never Heard of Lewis

A close friend of the dead model was asked today whether the girl had known any one named Lewis. He declared he had never heard of such a man and admitted knowing nearly all his friends. "My story of Powell, the chauffeur, indicated that a man in the taxicab did not know the neighborhood at all well as they were several inquiries about the way to reach a place 'on the same street as the opera house' and 'on the street leading out from Broad street'."

According to Miss Ethel Kyle, she had known Lewis about a year. When he called for her Thursday afternoon she suggested that they take her sister with them and the three went down town, dining at the Ritz Carlton hotel, dancing for a time at another restaurant, and moving on to the Bellevue-Stratford. They went home at 1 a. m.

The police profess to know that some one telephoned from a station in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel to Mabel Colbert's apartment at midnight Thursday. At that hour, according to the Misses Kyle, Lewis was in the Bellevue-Stratford and was not always at their table.

"Don't Worry," Lewis said. Miss Kyle said the next time she saw Lewis after Thursday night was on Monday. "Then I read the taxicab driver's statement," she said, "and it made me just sick. Mr. Lewis telephoned me on Tuesday and asked himself if he had read the statement. He telephoned me a little later, said he had read it, and told me not to worry."

One of the extremely valuable witnesses who has seized the opportunity to vanish is Marie Collins. Mabel Colbert's closest friend, an occupant of the same building. It is little which has taken place in the model's affairs that Marie Collins is not familiar with, yet after the preliminary inquiry at the hands of the police she was allowed to move and, according to Magistrate Harry Imber, is now out of the city.

Imber has come to him and complained bitterly today. "It isn't fair to drag me into this case," he said. "Think how my wife must feel about it. I didn't get any direct case from that girl, and it wasn't for my Christmas present that she pawned her jewelry."

Kaler's Friends Believed

Meaning "Champagne Charlie," Kaler's friends exhibit relief over the shift of attention from the young brewer of Mahanoy City to the suicide of the hitherto unknown B. W. Lewis. Kaler remains inaccessible to all except the police and two friends from Mahanoy. John Williams, a deputy coroner, and James Kirschner, a newspaper editor, who stand by him staunchly. Another friend who defends the erotic brewer is C. Emory Titman, prominent as a baseball enthusiast alone in the management of the Philadelphia Athletics. Titman also knew Mabel Colbert, but not improperly, it is insisted.

"Charlie Kaler had not been with Grace Colbert for months," Titman said positively. "He may have seen her in restaurants and talked with her, but he had not gone to her house."

Quick Finish to Case

The denouement in Philadelphia's extraordinary murder mystery came with dazzling speed. Twenty-four hours after Lewis' name had not been even mentioned in connection with the case. At noon Mabel Colbert's body disappeared beneath the surface of Holy Cross cemetery. The bystanders wondering when her murder would be avenged, and at night a man whose apparent connection with the case was most remote and who had stayed under the very eye of the police five days, fled from Philadelphia to the coast ready there to end his life.

STORY OF THE CRIME

No murder in years so thoroughly aroused the police and the public as the mysterious, brutal crime brought to light near midnight last Saturday when Mabel Colbert's sister, after repeated efforts to get her on the telephone, called at her apartment.

The colored janitor of the apartment house, finding the doors locked, climbed through a window at the solicitation of the sister and discovered the terribly beaten body of the beautiful girl, clad only in violet silk pajamas, lying on the bed. The form was covered with a sheet and a clumsy effort had been made by the murderer to indicate suicide by attaching a rubber hose to a gas jet and placing it over the murdered girl's face. But the murderer overlooked the detail of turning on the gas.

Circumstances made it apparent that the girl had been dead many hours when her body was found. She had been cruelly beaten, her teeth being knocked out, bruises and cuts were over the body, and apparently she had been beaten over the head with a flatiron. A silk stocking was knotted tightly around her neck.

Letters and photographs found in Miss Colbert's apartment served to connect several prominent Philadelphians with the gay life the girl had been leading, and they were summoned before the detectives and questioned regarding their association with her. Suspicion rested on several and their knowledge of the girl caused them to pass many uncomfortable hours.

STORY OF THE SUICIDE

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—With his feet braced against the head of the bath tub in which he lay, Bernard Wesley Lewis, son of a wealthy Pittsburgh family, wanted in connection with the murder of Grace Colbert, the artist's model, in a Philadelphia apartment, pulled the trigger of a .22 rifle in the bathroom adjoining his bedroom in the exclusive States Villa, on States avenue, tonight at 8:25 as Detectives Farley and Totten of local headquarters staffed for admittance on the door of his room.

Kyle Girls' Evidence

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—While the police department has officially satisfied itself that Bernard W. Lewis was the slayer of Miss Colbert, those who have watched the case without the inside information which the police have access to are wondering what the evidence is, aside from the fact of the suicide.

One of the things which even the detective bureau admits is a puzzling feature is the fact that, assuming their supposition to be correct that Mr. Lewis actually killed Grace Roberts, it is to them, as to others, inexplicable why he remained in Philadelphia from some time Friday until this afternoon, why he kept constantly in touch with the one household in the entire city to whom he must have known the detectives would turn for news of his whereabouts.

The Blood Stained Shirt

Late this afternoon after Miss Kyle had told detectives of her telephone conversation with Lewis, several went to the home in Germantown and carried with them the blood-stained shirt, which, with the blood stained collar, were two important pieces of tangible evidence found in the model's apartment on the night of the discovery of the murder.

Bush to Capture Him

Farley and Totten immediately rushed to the house on States avenue. Upon inquiry of a maid at the door they learned that Lewis had gone to his room on the third floor. They hurried up the

CHRONOLOGY

Movements of Bernard Lewis, Who Police Say Killed Miss Colbert, from Day Before the Murder Until His Suicide.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—The movements of Bernard Lewis, now formally accused by the police of the murder of Miss Mabel Colbert, as told to the detective force by Misses Mabel and Ethel Kyle in their chronological sequence and also in chronological connection with the developments of the murder mystery follow.

Thursday afternoon—Calls up Misses Kyle and asks them to go to dinner and the theater with him. They accept. Dines with them, takes them to show, has dinner with them at Bellevue-Stratford, gets a taxicab and drives them home and is then driven to the corner of Fifteenth and Poplar streets in the early hours of Friday and enters Grace Roberts' apartment as according to statement of chauffeur.

Thursday afternoon—Calls up Misses Kyle and makes date to take them to church the next day.

Saturday night—Murdered body of Grace Roberts discovered.

Sunday—Lewis takes Misses Kyle to church and talks with them a long time. Detectives discover that a taxi had stopped before Wilton apartments and a man leaving it had entered Miss Roberts' suite early Friday morning.

Monday—Papers print that detectives are searching for the man who entered Miss Roberts' apartment in the early hours Friday morning and believe they will soon find him. Lewis reads of the search that it being made to locate him. Again gets in touch with the Kyle girls, with whom he was up to the time he is supposed to have left them for the model's rooms.

Tuesday—Papers announce discovery of Elwood Powell, the chauffeur who drove the Kyle girls and Lewis to Miss Roberts' early the following morning. Tells that he has given description of Lewis and police hot on his track.

Wednesday—Lewis again talks with Kyle girls, although there are rumors they have told police of him.

Thursday—Lewis knows that Kyle girls have told all about him to police. He calls them up again. Goes to Atlantic City and kills himself as he is about to be arrested.

one of the detectives took this soiled collar, and, fastening it around his own neck, asked them if they could identify the collar as the collar Lewis had worn while he was entertaining them Thursday night and when he left them early Friday morning. They responded that as far as a collar could be positively identified they did.

Identify the Collar.
"I am sure this collar is exactly similar to the one he wore," they both declared.

Then the police were sure that they were on the trail of the man who was an eye witness to the beginning of the murder, for the theory upon which they have been working for the last three days was that murder of Grace Roberts came when another admirer was in her apartment and this admirer was in a back room of the apartment when the light began.

Coal company was dissolved because a member of the brokerage firm of Moore, Leonard & Lewis. This firm was dissolved in July, 1915, and reorganized later under the name of Moore, Leonard & Lynch. At the brokerage office it was stated that they believed Lewis was engaged in the automobile business in New York.

Two years ago Lewis became interested in the Miles theater here, and is said to have been secretary of the theater company. A short time later he disappeared and was arrested in New York on charges preferred by one of his partners. He was accused of misappropriating the company's funds and was brought back to Pittsburgh. Subsequently the difficulty was adjusted and he was released. The theater company reorganized later and changed the name to Pitt theater. Whether Lewis was in financial difficulties recently is not known definitely by his parents.

Edna B. Race, Facing Alienation Suit, Turns Up in Syracuse, N. Y.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Edna Barnes Race came back home to Syracuse this afternoon and was met at the station by her banker and financial adviser, C. C. Truesdell.

Miss Race inherited $75,000 from her grandfather, Jeremiah F. Barnes, an old salt boiler, who died in this city in 1904, and she has been here several times since. Mr. Truesdell explained this evening that Miss Race is here to settle up her affairs and will probably return to Chicago in a few days.

As soon as she reached the Yates hotel a physician was summoned and she was put to bed. Early in the evening a trained nurse was called and she is now in attendance, assisted by a French maid from Chicago.

Miss Race permitted herself to be interviewed—in bed—at 10:30 o'clock this evening. She insisted there was nothing mysterious about her actions in Chicago.

DODGES LAWYER AND DOCTOR.
Miss Edna Barnes Race, heiress to a $200,000 estate in Irving Park, is apparently determined to break all ties binding her to the past. She has "cut" both her physician and attorney, they said. Neither knows where she is.

Miss Race is being sued for alienation of affections by the divorced wife of Harry Hughes, her business manager.

When Dr. Allan Edgar Stewart was asked if he were Miss Race's physician he said he was supposed to be, but then he guessed he wasn't after all, for he couldn't find his patient when he went to her old room in the Brevoort hotel on Sunday to pay a professional call.

"She wants to get away from her relatives, so she probably has taken another doctor," he said. "She was able to walk about in her room a little, but she is quite ill. I was surprised to find her gone."

Harry Hughes Knows.
"Harry Hughes," the lawyer said, "was in my office to see me, but he didn't divulge any addresses, although I am hoping he may yet. Her relatives are trying to get out of paying what she owes Miss Race—more than $100,000."

SENATORS AGREE TO FAIL TO INDICATE NOTE OF WILL
Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—The senate today agreed to a discussion of the bill to amend the act of 1902 relating to the note of will.

After two hours of attack upon the bill, the senate went over, with the further antagonistic speech of Mr. Lodge.

The principal speech made by Senator Lodge was in opposition to the bill, and he declared that the bill was a leap into international negotiations which congress had no right to make.

Lewis Answers Lodge. Senator Lewis answered the criticism of the Massachusetts senator to the senate. He had been taken as a favor to Germany, he said it was that one side or the other controversy should be intervened for peace and declared that this was no reason to date the bill.

He strongly dissented from expressed by Mr. Lodge the notion of the resolution would drag the United States into European politics, with danger to our doctrine and important policies, and accused the senator of incorrectly trying to put a Democratic president in power.

Tender of Good Offices.
"The note," Senator Lewis said, "is a mere formality. It is not customary, though, to first sound out the opinion of the nation before we make these involved moves. So far as I am concerned, I am not much interested in the question of whether the president or whether the senate should make a move."

"Of all offenses that have been committed in the history of the United States, the one that is the most heinous is the one that is committed by the president in the name of the United States, and he is the one who is the most responsible for the failure of the United States to make a move."

Warns of Co-operation.
Resuming his direct attack on the note, Senator Lodge said yesterday, Senator Lodge said that portion of the note that the United States co-operate after the war is a violation of the constitution, in an arrangement with the world.

"It is apparent to every student," that when we also the nation of European nations, we are taking a step that is not taken with our knowledge of what is the distance which we are to go."

SENATORS AGAIN FAIL TO INDORSE NOTE OF WILSON

He Goes Over After Debate of Two Hours—Lodge Attacks
and Lewis Defends Move.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Indorsement by the senate of President Wilson's note to the belligerent powers
requiring a discussion of peace terms
was again today.

After two hours of attack and debate the vote on the Hitchcock resolution went over, with the prospect of further antagonistic speeches by Republicans.

An effort by Senator Hitchcock to secure unanimous consent for a vote late afternoon failed on objection by Senator Brandegee.

The principal speeches today were made by Senator Lewis, who defended
the president's action, and by Senator Lodge, who, concluding his attack before yesterday, declared adoption of the resolution would be a leap in the dark into international negotiations with which congress had no legal concern
and no knowledge.

Lewis Answers Lodge.
Senator Lewis answered in detail the charges of the Massachusetts senator.
Replying to the assertion that the
note had been taken as a favorable move toward Germany, he said it was but natural that one side or the other to such a controversy should so interpret a move
for peace and declared that, after all,
this was no reason to defeat so great
a cause.

He strongly dissented from the view expressed by Mr. Lodge that the adoption of the resolution would mean the beginning of the United States into European politics, with danger to the European doctrine and important domestic policy, and accused the Massachusetts
senator of incorrectly reciting history
in a Democratic president in a bad light.

Under of Good Offices.
"This note," Senator Lewis said, "on its very face merely tenders the good offices. When good offices are tendered it is not customary, though permissible, to sound out the parties. The contrary course oftentimes is adopted,
but this involved adverse to peace
would be busy to interpret its result."

"So far as I am concerned," he added,
"I am not much interested whether the president of the United States conformed
to precedent or whether he did not."
Of all charges that have been communicated against liberty in America it has not the slightest of precedent which must be subjected to modern events
and which says the spirit of things by its own reference to the letter."

Request for Terms.
Referring the vast forces arrayed in the present conflict ready to fight "to the death," the senator continued:
"Under the scholar of the day, the usual man of the times, would regard
it as recalcitancy on the part of any man
to prefer if he could have spoken to the consequences, which must nearly befall all civilization by the declatation of the human race had he failed to do so."

He said the president had not asked
the belligerents to tender peace terms
suggested those terms, but that he asked them to set together among themselves "anything which to either would be satisfactory as the terms of peace."

War of "Co-operation."
Summing his direct argument on the president's note, which he had begun
yesterday, Senator Lodge referred to that portion of the note which indicated the United States was willing to cooperate after the war with the belligerents, nations of Europe and other nations. In an arrangement for peace of the world.

"It is apparent to every one," he continued, "that when we abandon our traditional policy of separation from European politics we take a great step which should not be taken without most thorough knowledge of what is intended and of the distance which we are invited
to go."

An approval of the note in this general manner carries with it approval of the general principle of cooperation."

Says Nothing About Terms.
The German's reply to the president's note, Senator Lodge said:

"There is nothing said in this reply that compares with the statement of the German ambassador regarding the note of Bethlehem and the light 'cast out by the president's note. If we remove the diplomatic civilities we find that on the three principal points—the request for terms, the proposal for neutrality cooperation, and also as to the future of the world peace—the German note
is very explicit, almost blunt. It says nothing about terms whatever. It states that by its complete silence."

Would Give Senate Data.
The red from newspapers dispatches indicating Germany's terms have been communicated to the president.

If the president has the terms presented by the central powers," he said,
it is entirely in his discretion to deal
with them, but if we are to indorse anything he is doing, then before we take on which we should know the contents of the note, we are entitled to the same information the president has."

Senator Lodge completed his argument by declaring his adoption would be a leap in the dark and precipitate generation into the midst of international negotiations concerning which it knew nothing.

PRIZE BEAUTY WINS HUSBAND

"Mash" Note Extraordinary (Which Means Very Serious)
Brings Couple Together.

Mrs. Walter
H. Moore
WINNER—1916

When Beauty runs to displace,
a pretty mouth, a bewitching smile,
black eyes, titan hair, and a "perfect thirty-four" figure, it isn't hard to find Romance near—and that is just what happened in this case.

Dorothy Collins was her name before, and now it's Mrs. Walter H.
Moore. As Dorothy Collins she was selected by D. W. Griffith as Chic-ago's most beautiful girl at the time of the opening of the "Birth of a Nation." Last fall at the home exposition she was awarded first prize as Chicago's most beautiful amateur model.

After her Coliseum victory was announced "mash" notes by the bus-
band were received at the Coliseum
and all were thrown aside or returned to the sender—except one—from Mr.
Moore. That one was so serious and pleading in its tone that she finally consented to meet him.

Two months elapsed, and then one night last week she walked into the Coliseum theater and announced to the other girls who impersonate the vicious characters in "Intolerance" that she had a big secret to tell, and displaying a diamond and a plain gold ring announced, "I'm married."

Mr. Moore is treasurer of a Chicago corporation and agrees with Mr.
Griffith and other judges of beauty.

Leading's final explanation of the president's making.

"At all events, the position of Mr.
Moore's league is clear enough. We are invited to ally ourselves with European and Asiatic nations in establishing an international court, with an international army and navy to back up its decree."

Doubts Power of Court.
"Suppose that some nation or group
of nations rejects the verdict of the court. Suppose that the international army and navy must actually be used to enforce its decrees—what then? Is the United States going to let that international court declare war with us in some European or Asiatic quarrel, with which we have no concern whatever? Has your opinion of your country sunk so low that you are ready to take away from us the power to declare war and hand that power over to a court of European and Asiatic lawyers?"

What is the reason that the pacifists
have shouted so loudly for so many years? Until recently a certain Craspe named Andrew Carnegie has been the principal reason.

Now comes another Richmond in the field, your fellow citizen, Henry Ford. If reports are true, Mr. Ford has made millions out of the European war and now he proposes to devote a share of those bloodstained millions to the wicked task of preventing his own country from arming itself against its foes."

Power to European Lawyers?
In connection with the proposed League
to Enforce Peace, Gardner asked if the opinion of his auditors as to congress had sunk so low that they would take from it the power to declare war "and hand that power over to a court of European and Asiatic lawyers?"

Congressman Gardner's address in part was as follows:

"This war between autocracy and democracy must be fought to a finish. A temporary truce, while the antagonists
catch their breath, will be as futile as the peace of Amiens in the Napoleonic wars a hundred years and more ago."

"I wish the president would dispatch
international notes which admit of only one interpretation. Clear as is the web of words with which Woodrow Wilson surrounds his speaking, the statesmen of Europe can double discount him in diplomatic timbreling."

Hits League to Enforce Peace.
"Now comes this proposition of the League to Enforce Peace, headed by our distinguished fellow citizen William Howard Taft. Judging by several of his public utterances, I should be inclined to add that the League to Enforce Peace has the backing of President Wilson, were it not for the fact that the presumptuous utterances are not always susceptible of clear interpretation until
we are quite sure that we have Mr.

LAWSON CANCELS EUROPEAN TRIP TO TELL OF 'LEAK'

Will Be in Washington "Before Breakfast" Monday to Appear at Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Thomas
W. Lawson of Boston telegraphed Speaker Clark tonight that he had cancelled plans for a trip to Europe and would be in Washington "before breakfast" Monday morning to testify before the house rules committee, which today ordered public hearings on Representative Wood's charge that a leak
gave Wall street advance information about President Wilson's peace note.

Earlier, in response to a telegraphed supplicant, Mr. Lawson had notified the speaker that he would be unable to appear because he was sailing for Europe
Saturday, and when the second message came house leaders were considering whether there was authority to bring the Boston financier here by force.

Telegram Relieves Tension.
Democratic members of the committee were greatly relieved over the first telegram, which suggested that the investigation might be postponed until spring or summer.

The speaker was inclined to the opinion that under the wording of the resolution asking for a special congressional investigation congress was powerless to force Mr. Lawson's attendance on Representative Wood's charge.

New York Banker Involved.
In his first message to Speaker Clark
Mr. Lawson said that if his testimony
"should be needed" the committee
might "kindly postpone the investigation until my return in the late spring
or early summer."

Mr. Lawson added that he "noted"
that "Wall street's leading bankers,
whose testimony naturally would be the first essential to a real investigation,
has also decided to sail for Europe on Saturday."

Referring to his recent visit to Washington at the request of the house committee on rules and his conference with Chairman Henry, Mr. Lawson in his telegram said:

"I hereby release your chairman of the rules committee from the privilege of secrecy mutually exchanged on Tuesday. He may give to congress any or all the information he extracted from me, but of course I shall not divulge any of the confidences imparted by him."

Attorney P. H. O'Donnell
and Three Others Indicted

Indictments against Attorney Patrick
H. O'Donnell, Maurice Kleinman, Harry Green, and Max Weinbaum were yesterday by the grand jury. Each is indicted on two counts—one of conspiracy to suborn perjury and the other conspiracy to defame and to commit an illegal act. Voting of the indictments is the result of a petition filed by Attorney O'Donnell, who has been facing other charges for some time.

The petition charges Assistant State's Attorney Henry A. Berger with accepting $100 from Nathan Steinberg, alleged head of the "million dollar burgle" trust. Mr. Berger declared last night a conversation with Nathan Steinberg had revealed that O'Donnell had been "framing" against him.

Barratt O'Hara's Father
Fined $25 for Contempt

Attorney Thomas O'Hara, father of Lieut. Gov. Barratt O'Hara, was fined $25 for contempt of court yesterday by Judge Brothers. Mr. O'Hara was representing Henry Koffman charged jointly with Michael Gallagher with the theft of an automobile, and endeavored to pet Mrs. Koffman on the stand. Judge Brothers ruled, against this, and then,
it was charged by the court, the attorney attempted to tell the jury what Mrs. Koffman would have testified. Despite an apology from Mr. O'Hara, who is white haired and elderly, Judge Brothers had him kept in the custody of a baileiff until he paid the fine.

The case terminated indignantly for
Mr. O'Hara's client, however, as the court took Koffman's case from the jury
and directed that a verdict of not guilty
be brought in. Gallagher was found guilty.

HOLDS SLEUTH IN DIVORCE CASE

Judge Says Ralph Gorton
Conspired to Arrest Witness in Lehman Suit.

The activity of the co-respondent in a divorce case in procuring the arrest of an important witness yesterday drew a withering blast from Judge Harry Fisher.

In open court he denounced Charles F.
Weinman, secretary of the Chicago Safe
and Merchandise company, and Ralph B.
Gorton, head of the Gorton National Detective agency, as conspirators, and issued warrants for their arrest.

Ralph Gorton was the co-respondent
named by Louis Lehman of New York
in his suit against Mrs. Beatrice Lehman of 4389 Ellis avenue.

"They Are Conspirators."
"There is no doubt this witness was arrested to prevent him testifying or punish him for having done so," said Judge Fisher angrily. "These men are conspirators!"

William C. Armstrong, a former operative for the Gorton agency, was the witness whose arrest drew the Kaneau
Mountain gale from Judge Fisher.

Armstrong was in New York to testify
when arrested. The charge was larceny
by bailment. Judge Fisher dismissed it, saying there was no evidence that Armstrong was a fugitive.

Gorton Makes Denial.
Gorton denied he knew Armstrong was to testify in New York, although he admitted he knew the suit was in progress. Assistant State's Attorney Arkin told the court Gorton rushed to the office of the state's attorney demanding
a warrant forthwith lest Armstrong escape.

BILLIK HAPPY; REJOINS FAMILY IN CLEVELAND

Freed Ex-Convict Shows Letter from Wife Bidding
Him Return.

Feet shone twice a week seemed the essence of supreme living to Herman Billik at the Joliet penitentiary, after eight years of boiled beef. But yesterday he had dumplings in a loop restaurant, and he laughed, and shuddered,
too, at the remembrance of the click of
the salmons trays as the sheriff toted
it below the window of his prison cell.
He left Chicago last night for Cleveland, where his wife and daughter, Edna, live. Denying the report that his wife did not want him back, he patted a letter and said:

"I got this letter from her yesterday,
and she said she would hardly wait to hear about the action of the pardon board. She wants me to come back, and I am going."

Sister to Aid Him.
Besides the joy of freedom, Billik had another joyful experience when he heard that his sister, Mrs. Anton Hansen of Cleveland, would start him in a small business.

"I don't know what it will be," he said in the office of his attorney, Francis H. Hinkley. "It would be nice to have a little grocery that would support my wife and daughter."

"I'm the happiest man in the world.
My wife has stuck to me all that time.
She has worked to support herself and my daughter while I was in prison. Now
I am going to work for them."

Denies Engagement Story.
Billik insisted he knew nothing of the report that his daughter Edna was engaged to Jerry Vrai. He was sentenced for the murder of the father and four sisters of Jerry. The boy, then 15 years old, testified he saw Billik put poison in the food of his sisters and father. The recent statement of Jerry that his testimony at the trial was false was the direct cause of the pardon issued by Gov. Dunn.

Young Vrai, who returned to Washington with Peter J. O'Callahan, denied he is engaged to Miss Billik.

GIRL'S LOVE ADMITTED.
Cleveland, O., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—Edna Billik and her mother, Mrs. Herman Billik, tonight admitted Jerry Vrai
may become a member of the family

"Edna is in love with Jerry Vrai," said Mrs. Billik, "but there has been no talk of an engagement."

The daughter refused to discuss the situation.

PLACES BLAME IN ARMY SCANDAL

London Standard Says Mrs.
Cornwallis-West Falsely
Accused Officer.

UPHEAVAL THE RESULT.
[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
LONDON, Jan. 4.—The Evening Standard, in its "gossip column," today
gives what purports to be the charges made by Mrs. William Cornwallis-West
against the young lieutenant, Patrick Barrett of the Welsh Borderers which led to his removal and brought about the war office scandal which resulted in the censuring of Mrs. Cornwallis-West and the official rebuke of several men
high in command by the court of inquiry.

The "gossip" comments on the absence of any official particulars of Mrs.
Cornwallis-West's "indictive attempt to injure" Lieut. Barrett and adds:
"I am moved to repeat the omission is some important particulars. Mrs. Cor-wallis-West informed Gen. Mackinnon that Lieut. Barrett was constantly at Ruthin castle and was pursuing her,
that she was frightened by him, and that he had broken into her bedroom.
For this reason she requested Mackinnon to have Lieut. Barrett removed.
There was no truth in Mrs. West's allegation."

Will Quit Public Work.
The Daily Mail learns that Mrs. Cor-wallis-West has decided to retire from every kind of public work.

If anything were needed to reinforce the evidence which clears Lieut. Barrett and condemns others, it was the action of Mrs. Cornwallis-West. The former was called for in his illness. Scarcely did Mrs. West feel the injustice done to the wounded soldier who had been intrusted
to his care that he severed a lifelong friendship with the Cornwallis-West
and a clearly loved wife.

"The following anecdote may bring her

woman, one of the most loved of mothers, and a clearly loved wife."

ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN
BERLIN, Jan. 4.—Front of Archduke Joseph in the wooded Carpathian Russian detachments succeeded in gaining a footing in a most advanced position north of Meste-Caneel. German and Austro-Hungarian troops captured the north Ottus road and both sides of Sovela in the Suchitza valley, taking several heights by hand to hand fighting and maintaining them against strong hostile attacks.

German and Bulgarian regiments, fighting shoulder to shoulder, stormed and captured in hand to hand fighting the tenaciously defended towns of Matchin and Jijila. About 1,000 prisoners and ten machine guns were brought in.

Dobruja was thus cleared of the enemy except for a narrow spit of land leading toward Galatz, which still is held by Russian rear guards.

RUSSIAN

PETROGRAD, Jan. 4.—After artillery preparation our detachments attacked heights south of Botochu mountain. They broke through the position of the enemy, who displayed a stubborn resistance, and captured 600 prisoners, three cannon, sixteen machine guns, some mine throwers, and trench mortars.

Six persistent attacks by the enemy on our trenches southeast of Brusburgan, in the Tatroch valley, were repulsed with great losses for the enemy.

Two attacks on one of the heights northeast of Sosnowe were beaten back by our fire.

Along the entire front from Fokshany to the Danube there is infantry firing.

In Dobruja during the night a Bulgarian field post was annihilated by a surprise attack. In the morning the enemy launched an attack in the region of Matchin, but was beaten back.

Later in the day the enemy resumed his attacks and pressed back our detachments, which began to withdraw toward Braila. Enemy attacks on the heights east of Yokorono, twenty-five versts east of Braila, were repulsed.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

BRITISH

LONDON, Jan. 4.—On the Struma front we successfully raided the village of Keupit, inflicting several casualties and taking twenty-eight prisoners. Enemy positions in the neighborhood of Semullos and Lake Vitai have been bombarded by the royal navy.

FRENCH FRONT

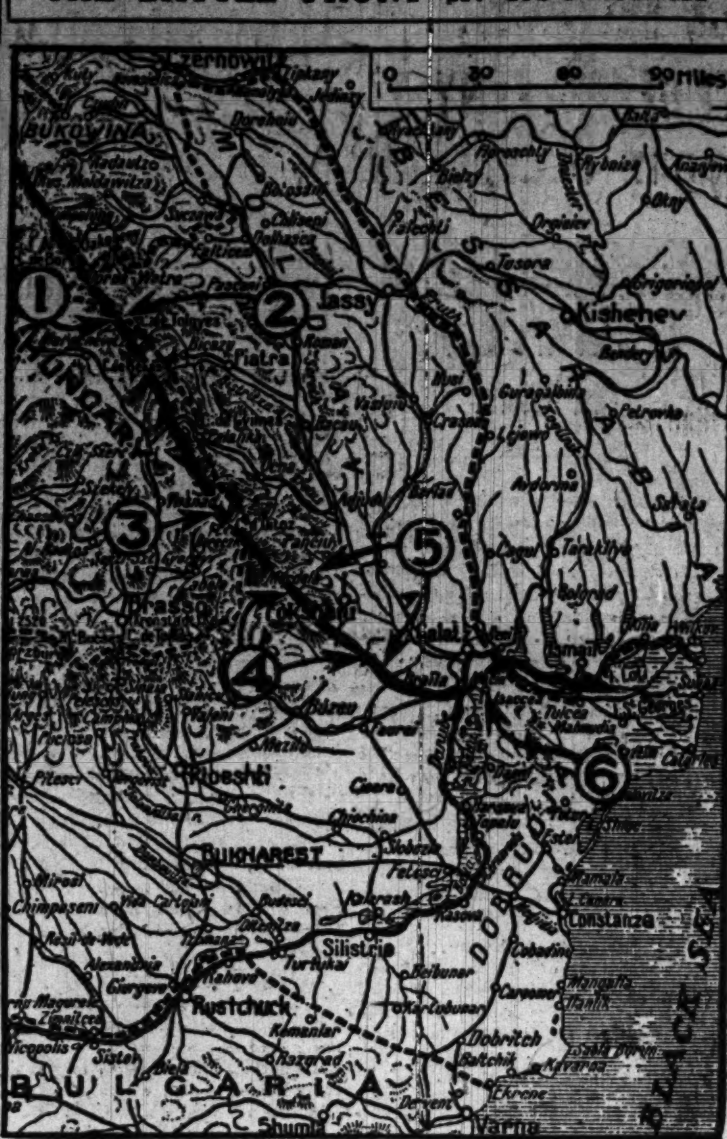

FRENCH

PARIS, Jan. 4.—Between the Oise and the Aisne we dispersed an enemy reconnaissance party of twenty men and took prisoners. A somewhat violent artillery action took place in the sector west of the road between Souain and Romaine-Py and in the regions of Douaumont and Cote du Poivre. The usual cannonade occurred on the rest of the front.

BRITISH

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Yesterday we successfully raided enemy trenches northeast of Arras. His positions also were entered by us early this morning in two places in the neighborhood of Wytschaete. East of Armentieres, after a heavy bombardment, a party of Germans

PETROGRAD, Jan. 4.—A party of Austrians, about 200 strong, attempted to occupy a trench which projects forward southeast of Brzezany. The enemy's artillery activity continues marked in the neighborhood of Ypres. Elsewhere the intermittent artillery activity continued on both sides.

A group of our scouts attacked an enemy field post in the region of Stanislaw. Some of the Austrians were bayoneted and the others were captured. On their return our scouts were attacked from behind by a strong enemy party, but our men put the Austrians to flight and returned safely to their intrenchments. Enemy attempts to cross the River Bystritsa, in the region south of Galich, during the night were unsuccessful.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Jan. 5, 4 a. m.—The German emperor has sent Prince Adalbert on a secret mission to Sofia and Constantinople, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. It is believed his visit is in connection with peace.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Considerable prominence is given in London newspapers to reports of conferences to be held in Vienna and Berlin. The inference is drawn that as the war staffs are to take no part, they will relate to policy rather than to conduct of the war.

Emperor William, Emperor Charles, King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and the sultan of Turkey are to meet in Vienna, according to the newspaper reports, while the foreign ministers and presidents of the parliaments of the central powers will assemble in Berlin. The latter conference has been fixed for Jan. 19, while that of the sovereigns probably will precede it.

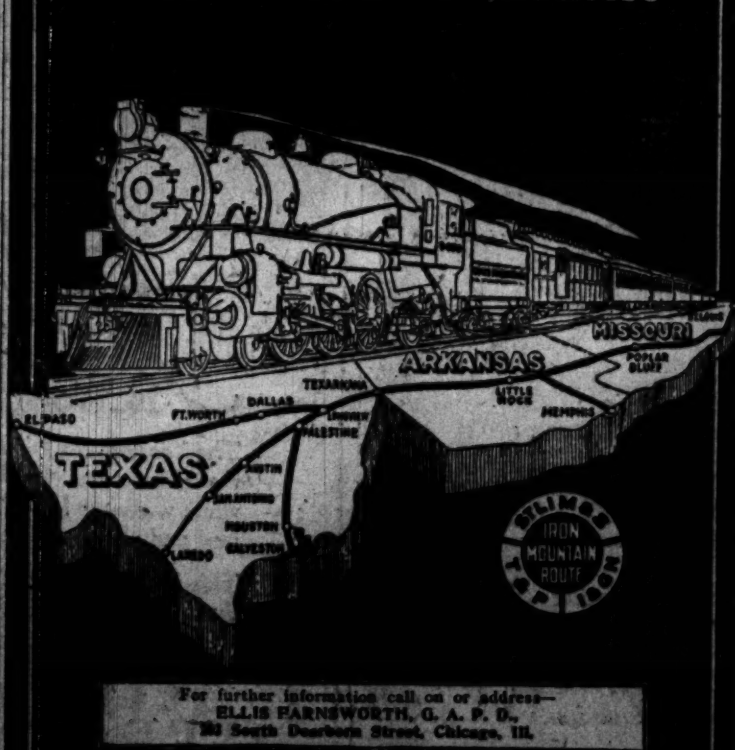

Hungarian Cabinet Change?
Premier Tisza of Hungary and Count Julius Andrássy, leader of the Hungarian opposition, have arrived in Vienna. Count Andrássy was received by Emperor Charles and Premier Tisza conferred with the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister and the Austrian premier. It is believed these conferences are connected with a change in the Hungarian cabinet.

A plenary session of the reichstag will possibly be convened in the middle of January, according to a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam, quoting the Berlin Vorwaerts. The Vorwaerts says that "it is obvious that the chancellor, as well as the parties, would like to express an opinion on the emperor's refusal of Germany's peace offer."

Entente Reply Reaches Berlin.
BERLIN, Jan. 4.—The official text of the entente reply to the peace proposals has been finally received by the German embassy by the roundabout route of Washington and Copenhagen. It will be presented by Ambassador Gerard to the foreign office this afternoon.

Sober second thought in official circles confirms the impression expressed on the day the press version of the note was received here that the note puts an end for the present to all chances of peace. It is considered in some quarters that the reply of the entente will not entirely close the door to the possibility of peace discussions. Those who hold that belief contend that this could be done either in response to a further invitation from President Wilson to both sides to state their terms simultaneously and confidentially, or perhaps through an open declaration of their terms by the central powers.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—"What we fight for" is the title of a powerful article in the Times by F. S. Oliver. He says:
"Peace at the present time can only mean one of two things: war on a vast scale within a generation—even within a decade—of German domination of Europe, of the near east, and finally of the world."

"President Wilson tells us that the present situation of the neutral nations is hard to endure. This is undeniable. The allies have done their best to mitigate the inevitable hardships, but can not be held responsible for the atrocities which have been perpetrated by German submarines."

May Find Status Intolerable.
"If the neutral nations have no other interest in the war except its cessation then in the light of German threats it is impossible that they may come to regard their situation as intolerable. But even if they have, as we think, wider and deeper interests than merely to end the war, we still have no right to measure or contrast their sufferings with our own."

"We don't deceive ourselves as to the future course of the war or mock ourselves with the fancy that Germany is on the verge of collapse. We know well if we fight to the finish even what we already have suffered may appear only a small thing when we come to cast up the final reckoning. We don't blink at these possibilities, but as we have not yet found our burden intolerable so we trust we never may find it so until we have ended the work to which we have put our hands."

Treachery to Quit Now.
"No one who understands the British people can mistake our present purpose. We should hold ourselves guilty of treachery both to the quick and the dead were we to break off now, were we to make peace which would be as peace of treachery to the unborn, of treachery to those who have given more than their lives in this struggle, to those whose sight or reason has been darkened, to the maimed and broken in health—all who have comforted themselves in affliction with the thought that their own sorrow or daily pain was part of the great common sacrifice which the allied nations freely offered in order that this world may not become a kingdom of hell.

"We cannot even yet be certain of the issue, but as to the duty of going on and as to the shame of turning aside we are altogether certain."

COCOAThe Most Delightful
of All Beverages

This wonderful cocoa is far superior to all other beverages—and all other cocoas. Day after day we hear this same idea expressed by cocoa connoisseurs and by the mothers. And if any one knows good cocoa it is the mother who has the welfare of their families, their growing youngsters, at heart.

Bunte Cocoa is PURE cocoa, rich in mineral content and minus the large percentage of indigestible cocoa butter fat usually found in cocoas. Therefore its particular superiority for invalids. For children there is nothing to equal it.

DOBRUDJA OF

Falling Back on Braila

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
LONDON, Jan. 4.—The Russians evacuated the province of Dobruja, following the capture of the Russian rear guard in the northwestern corner of the province. The evacuation of the province was completed by the British and French forces. The Russian rear guard was falling back on Braila.

The evacuation movement was completed by the British and French forces. The Russian rear guard was falling back on Braila. The evacuation of the province was completed by the British and French forces.

German and Bulgarian regiments, fighting shoulder to shoulder, stormed and captured in hand to hand fighting the tenaciously defended towns of Matchin and Jijila. About 1,000 prisoners and ten machine guns were brought in.

Dobruja was thus cleared of the enemy except for a narrow spit of land leading toward Galatz, which still is held by Russian rear guards.

RUSSIAN
PETROGRAD, Jan. 4.—After artillery preparation our detachments attacked heights south of Botochu mountain. They broke through the position of the enemy, who displayed a stubborn resistance, and captured 600 prisoners, three cannon, sixteen machine guns, some mine throwers, and trench mortars.

Six persistent attacks by the enemy on our trenches southeast of Brusburgan, in the Tatroch valley, were repulsed with great losses for the enemy.

Two attacks on one of the heights northeast of Sosnowe were beaten back by our fire.

Along the entire front from Fokshany to the Danube there is infantry firing.

In Dobruja during the night a Bulgarian field post was annihilated by a surprise attack. In the morning the enemy launched an attack in the region of Matchin, but was beaten back.

Later in the day the enemy resumed his attacks and pressed back our detachments, which began to withdraw toward Braila. Enemy attacks on the heights east of Yokorono, twenty-five versts east of Braila, were repulsed.

FLEE WITH PAY ROLL CASH AMID HAIL OF SHOTS

Bandits Hold 100 Employees at Bay with Guns as They Rob Cashier.

Shooting right and left to cover their retreat, a pair of six foot bandits held up a line of 100 workers, snatched the pay roll money from the girl cashier, and fled down three flights of stairs at 117 West Superior street last evening, scattering money as they ran, but making their escape in a hail of bullets sent after them.

The robbery took place in the plant of the Lincoln Electric Supply company, which occupies the third floor of the New York building. As is her custom, Miss Eleanor Hoffman, the cashier, brought out the cash box filled with pay envelopes and began paying off the employees.

More than 100 men and girls were in the line. Miss Hoffman had just paid George Elder, 118 West Huron street, the first in line, when the first of the robbers entered. He wore a black overcoat and a black hat. He carried a magazine pistol in his hand. He shoved the pistol into Miss Hoffman's face.

Employees Covered by Pistol.
At this moment the second robber entered and trained his pistol on the line of employees. The first robber seized the cash box and ran toward the stairway.

Miss Martha Stanley, 19 years old, 145 West Chicago avenue, was standing outside the door and on the point of entering to get her pay envelope when the robbers in their zeal to prevent the payroll opened a promiscuous fire on the door and the head of the stairway. A bullet sped by Miss Stanley's face, missing her by half an inch. She screamed and then ran inside and called to Edward Grand, manager of the supply company.

Meanwhile the robbers ran down the stairs and continued their fusillade of bullets to keep off any who might interfere with their escape. They gained the street and ran east.

Pay Envelopes Litter Street.
By this time Manager Grand had caught up a revolver. He ran to a window and with several other men opened fire on the retreating bandits. As they ran pay envelopes were sent flying from the box they carried. The robbers dashed into an alley and made their escape. Some of the money was recovered by pedestrians, who assisted in collecting envelopes scattered in the mud.

Policeman Edward Mead made an attempt to follow the robbers, but gave up after they had disappeared. The legal step in the case is to get the money back. It was estimated that $400 was obtained by the robbers.

BEAT NEWLANDS BODY EXTENSION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—[Special.]—The president received his first legislative defeat of the year today when the House refused, by a vote of 167 to 145, to adopt a rule to extend the life of the Newlands railroad committee for one year.

Eager to hasten the passage of railroad legislation by Congress, the president had called Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house rules committee, to the White House yesterday and urged him to bring up the rule on the Newlands committee extension at once. This rule would have barred debate, permitting the members only to vote on the resolution without discussion.

Twenty-seven Democrats voted against the adoption of the rule and five Republicans and three Independents voted for the rule.

Representative Mann of Illinois charged the whole purpose of the resolution was to give a job to a "lame duck." He referred to Representative Cullip of Indiana, one of the provisions of the resolution being that Cullip should be retained on the committee after March 4, when his term expires, at a salary of $7,500 a year.

ECKHART BACKS STEEVER PLAN FOR TRAINING

Chairman of School Military Commission Says System
Will Improve Boys.

After a conference with Capt. Edgar Z. Steever yesterday, John W. Eckhart, chairman of the school board's commission on military training, is convinced the war department's plan for military training in the public schools will be installed. Capt. Steever explained the purpose and will outline the details of the plan itself at the meeting of the commission next Tuesday.

Several protests have reached Mr. Eckhart, but he believes that when the idea is unfolded in detail all opposition will disappear.

Great Uplifter for Boys.
"We do not intend to make soldiers of the boys," said Mr. Eckhart. "None of us. Capt. Steever included, favors militarism. But the course will be the greatest factor for right living among school boys that has ever been brought to our attention."

"One talk by Capt. Steever to the boys will do more good than 100 sermons. It will mean less cigarette smoking, less drinking, and less 'bad living,' not only during the period of their schooling, but for their whole lives. The course is going to be a great moral factor in school life, and I believe Capt. Steever is the one man to direct it."

What Capt. Steever says will not be a sermon. He has the boy's viewpoint and the ability to make himself one of the boys. The work will make the boys respect themselves and respect others. It will be training in neatness and pride and right living.

Making of Officers.
"And if occasion ever does arise when their services will be necessary in time of war they will profit by the training they have received. They will be the first among the volunteers to be chosen as officers. I cannot speak for the commission on military training, but I am confident that the plan will have the approval of the school board."

Capt. Steever visited the Phillips, Hyde Park, and Parker high schools with Rufus M. Hatch, district superintendent, to familiarize himself with the school plants. He will visit other high schools today.

PUTS TRUSTEES IN ANANIAS CLUB

John Morrissey Allows There Is Plot Against His Lovely School Site.

JOE STEIN NAMED.

Most of the members of the buildings and grounds committee of the board of education were assigned to their particular position in the cosmic system yesterday by one John C. Morrissey of 1940 South Homan avenue. Morrissey admitted them to the Ananias association.

For more than an hour he kept the trustees alternately laughing and swearing (there were no women members present) in the office of President Loh. His grievance was that the board seemed to be unwilling to buy for a school site the property at Homan and Ogden avenues, on which he had noquired some lovely options—surely, at least, in the interest of the board. His own property is a part of the proposed site.

All Histrionic Together.
Morrissey finally left the board rooms in disgust. "You're all in on it," he said, "and I can't believe a one of you. Sure, I'll take a cigar, one, two, three, and have a good smoke after dinner. I should have known it was no use talking to you fellows. You pretend to fight all the time, but I know you. You're just like that—'Yes' he says one part of the board was 'in on the game' of getting the options and the other is holding up the deal because they have interests in the other site."

It was another chapter in the long story of a site for a much needed school out in Lawndale. The schools committee said there was a "gentleman's agreement" to accept Morrissey's site.

Enter Joseph Stein.
"Morrissey said he had secured options for Joseph Stein, a private banker at 1900 Milwaukee avenue," said Attorney Angus Roy Shannon. "When Secretary Larson denounced Stein, the latter told Morrissey the board was stalling and couldn't admit he was the board's agent. So Morrissey went ahead with his options. One part of the board was 'in on the game' of getting the options and the other is holding up the deal because they have interests in the other site."

ARIZONA'S TWO GOVERNORS IN COURT BATTLE

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 4.—The Hunt and Campbell forces in the contest for control of the governorship of Arizona took their battle before the Supreme court this afternoon. The Campbell forces asked the court for an order compelling Gov. Hunt to vacate the office in favor of Campbell pending a determination of the recount of ballots, which will begin Jan. 15.

Gov. Hunt still is in possession of the executive chambers. Both Gov. Hunt and Gov. Campbell were preparing messages to the legislature, which convenes next week.

When the case was called in the Supreme court chief counsel for Hunt moved to strike out everything in the Campbell complaint except the record of the issuance of the certificate of election to Gov. Campbell.

Former Gov. Sloan, chief counsel for Gov. Campbell, based the application for the writ which would oust Hunt from possession of the office on the certificate of election issued by the secretary of state and on the returns certified by the state election board, and which show Campbell's election by a plurality of 30 votes.

VILLA'S BACKERS PLAN TO FORM GOVERNMENT?

Writing Proposed at San Antonio—Severe Fighting Reported in Chihuahua.

BULLETIN.
In Paso, Tex., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—Reports received at army headquarters tonight say the Carranza government has sent to Washington a demand for the immediate withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's army from Mexico. The demand is in the nature of an ultimatum. The advisers say Carranza officials are convinced that a break with the United States is inevitable.

In Paso, Tex., Jan. 4.—(Special.)—Reports received at army headquarters tonight say the Carranza government has sent to Washington a demand for the immediate withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's army from Mexico. The demand is in the nature of an ultimatum. The advisers say Carranza officials are convinced that a break with the United States is inevitable.

It was also reported here that Dr. Francisco Vazquez Gomez was being considered by one faction as one of the possibilities for provisional president. Villistas denied emphatically to be a conference of Villa adherents to plan a Villa government in Mexico.

Severe Fighting Is Reported.
An effort will be made, it was said tonight, to have Villa issue a proclamation giving guarantees to all foreigners and to conduct his campaign according to the rules of modern warfare.

Severe fighting between Villa forces and Gen. Francisco Murguía's command somewhere south of Chihuahua City are reported late today by government agents. Gen. Murguía was said to have gone south with practically his entire column.

It was reported tonight that two of Gen. Murguía's advance guard troops had been captured by Villa troops.

Interest Centers on Wilson.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Interest in the Mexican situation remained centered tonight on what action by President Wilson might follow his approval of the recommendation of the American members that conferences of the Mexican-American joint commission be brought to an end.

Dr. J. E. Scott, one of the American commissioners, carried to the Mexican members in New York today a formal reply to his last communication from Gen. Carranza in which he again had refused to sign the protocol providing for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

While there she was reported engaged to Richard Crane Clark, and in March it was reported she had broken this engagement for another with Paul Engstrom, son of a wealthy family in St. Paul. It is announced that the newlyweds will be at home in St. Paul after March 1.

"RUNNERS' RING" FACES BRIBERY AND CRAFT QUIZ

Grand Jury May Act on Council "Fixing" and Split Paid Policemen.

Two sensational charges against the "runners' ring," the combination of storekeepers and depot trade solicitors who specialize in "trimming visiting suckers," may be presented to the January grand jury.

The charges are:
That the ring raised a fund of $9,000 to bribe a council committee not to put the runners out of business.

That the ring has paid tribute of a fixed percentage of its profits to policemen not to interfere with its activities.

Information on both these subjects is said to have been given to the state's attorney's office, which is making further investigations. Some corroborative evidence is said to have been obtained, and indictments of members of the ring, in which also are included uniformed runners for some taxicab stands, and dishonest policemen may be sought this month.

Explosion at Meeting.
The secret of the prosecutor's office was disclosed first when some indignant aldermen yesterday exploded at a meeting of the council committee on license. That body has been considering an ordinance to eliminate from the municipal code a provision licensing, and thereby legalizing, the occupation of the runners.

When they had fired their bomb the rest of the committee joined them in a decision to put the solicitors out of business at once. By unanimous vote the ordinance repealing the licensing provision was recommended for passage.

Bowler Tells of "Tip."
Ald. John Toman and Ald. James B. Bowler started the fireworks. Bowler said he had no information except in the form of rumors, to which he gave little heed until Toman spoke to him. But Toman said he received his information from a source that he saw no reason to question. He said his only reason for not disclosing all of it was his fear that such a step might interfere with the work on the state's attorney's office.

"Last Saturday night," he said, "a man I've known several years, who is a trusted employee of one of the railroads, came to my house. He said that the head of this ring had told the runners at the depots that our committee was 'fixed' and that Toman was fixed in such a way that he could not back down."

Assessed $100 Apiece.
He said this fellow had taken up an assessment of $100 apiece among the runners and the storekeepers, that they

GREGORY GETS QUIZ FACTS ON PRINT PAPER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Attorney General Gregory today took over the reports of the federal trade commission on its inquiry into the print paper market with a view to determining whether there is a paper trust and to instituting civil and criminal proceedings against manufacturers or others who may have violated the anti-trust laws.

President Wilson is actively interested in recent disclosures of practices pursued in the production and distribution of print paper and is following the inquiry closely.

It is understood that department officials are prepared to institute speedily a dissolution suit against any manufacturer within federal jurisdiction who are believed to have conspired in restraint of trade or to effect a monopoly.

In addition, department officials are understood to be preparing to ask for criminal indictments, should analysis of the evidence warrant such action, and it is believed the criminal proceedings, if undertaken, would be pressed ahead of the civil proceedings.

Bill Proposes Increase in Pay of Mail Carriers
Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Postal clerks and carriers, both urban and rural, would receive increases of from $5 to 10 per cent in their salaries by a bill agreed upon today by the house postal committee. The increase would affect about 200,000 carriers and cost $10,000,000 a year.

"No," answered the lawyer. "I didn't come into this case until this morning." There followed the adoption of the repealing ordinance. Previously Attorney Frank J. Loesch, Attorney G. A. Austin, Attorney Charles T. Schwartz, W. D. Beck, Gordon Allen, and other representatives of the railroads had urged the committee to abolish the runners.

EXPLAIN UNION DEMAND MADE ON RAILROADS

"Two weeks ago," said Simon O'Donnell, president of the Building Trades council yesterday, "we turned over to the Union Station company a written statement of our demands. We ask that the Pennsylvania, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy roads agree to employ only union men in all future construction work in Cook county. We are expecting daily to hear from them."

"I understood at the time the union station-ordinance was passed that the railroad agreed to what they now refuse to grant. They were glad enough to have the assistance of the Building Trades council and of the Chicago Federation of Labor in getting a permanent approval of their present site. Just before the ordinance was finally passed the railroad printed big advertisements in the Chicago papers, in which they carried the endorsements of the two bodies of organized labor for their plan and promised work for 20,000 union men."

"Now let them come across and live up to their agreement with me that only union men would be employed in Cook county. As for their action in employing only union men on the new terminal, they know perfectly well that they couldn't get it built in any other way."

"Buffalo Bill" Shows a Slight Improvement
Glenwood Springs, Colo., Jan. 4.—The condition of Col. William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill"), who arrived here today from Denver, was improved slightly, according to his physicians. Col. Cody stood the trip well.

DR. ROBERTSON PLANS TO SAVE 41 FEVER VICTIMS

He Needs $8,000 to Keep
Patients in Quarantine Till
All Danger Passes.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.
If the finance committee of the city
would give Health Commissioner
Dr. Robertson an extra appropriation of $8,000 for that specific purpose he could save the lives of forty-one patients who otherwise will die this year from typhoid fever.

Dr. Robert appears to be justified in his promise, so far as one may judge by the record he has made in dealing with the typhoid death rate
in Chicago during the last two years.
In 1914 the number of patients in quarantine was 6,9 out of every 100,000. In that year there were several large American cities which had a lower death rate. In 1915 the work of Dr. Robertson and of his typhoid ward supply
Dr. Herman Bundenen, resulted in cutting the typhoid death rate down to 4.1. That was the lowest rate of any American city with over half a million population. It put Chicago in the first rank.

1916 Record Better Still.
The figures for 1916 were completed yesterday. In spite of the epidemic of typhoid on the south side, caused by the backing up of sewage into the city's water supply, the typhoid death rate was 3.8. The year shows a still further reduction in the typhoid death rate
from 1915. The figures being 5.16 deaths per 100,000 of population.
It is too early to tell whether any other city of the first class has surpassed Chicago's achievement in 1916. At least the local authorities, working under a handicap for which they were not responsible, have been able to make an advance over 1915.

Under the fiscal jurisdiction of Chicago,
the typhoid ward supply Dr. Bundenen has had adventures which would almost justify him in becoming a "movie" star. He has some downy hair and a fey smile. He has been seen in a narrow alley looking for leaks in the walls
through which sewage might leak into the city's water supply. He has been seen in a narrow alley looking for leaks
in the walls through which sewage
might leak into the city's water supply.
He has followed excursion steamers
beyond the city limits and taken in a motor launch to catch them discharging garbage and sewage into the lake. Like an officer from a German marine he has stopped his ships out beyond the three mile limit and boarded
them to place the officers and men responsible for defiling the water under arrest.

His superiors say that during 1916 he worked on an average more than twelve hours a day. On more than one occasion he has been seen in the middle of the night to ask that warning be used to water consumers in an area
where infection was suspected.

Protecting Water Supply.
Under Dr. Bundenen's direction, samples of water from every crib and pumping station are analyzed, not more than forty-eight hours passing without the supply from every station coming under the eye of the chemist. It is the presence of the coliform bacillus for which the analyst chiefly search. When it is found the chemist are certain the water has been contaminated by fresh sewage and it may be suspected. In regular tests it is found that the water may at all times be safe to drink. It is regularly
treated with liquid chlorine.

It is the presence of this gas which has, on some occasions, given a peculiar taste to the water. The amount of chlorine used is, however, so small that it is safe to drink. It is regularly
treated with liquid chlorine.

As a result of all this hard work and the most precaution the health department is able to show a progressive improvement in the quality of Chicago's water supply. The daily analyses show that in 1916 the water was 98.4 percent pure. In 1915 the water was 98.2 percent pure. In 1914 the water was
98.0 percent pure. In 1913 the water was

Erratic action was seen in the wheat market yesterday, although prices ranged lower. Closing figures showed losses of 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents, but at one time the market was 3 1/2 to 4 cents under previous resting spots. Reports that some new move was on for ending the wheat conference of Europe into a peace conference was a factor in the decline, but previous to this there had been much unloading of long wheat, principally in the way of profit taking. Later, when it was reported that large export sales had been made in the last two days, the demand became heavy and prices rallied sharply from the bottom. Shorts covered freely and many long reins were released.

Export sales in all positions yesterday and Wednesday were placed at 2,000,000 bu. Omaha reported seaboard bids for No. 2 hard winter were raised 1/2 to 3/4 of 20¢ over Chicago May price, track Baltimore, and some business was put through at this figure. Local shipping sales were 15,000 bu.

Urgent Foreign Demand.

The foreign demand is urgent and apparently the idea is to build up good reserves. Broomball reports scarcely any Manitoba or winter wheat is offered for sale abroad and therefore business is done with difficulty. Liverpool pool wheat was sold and unchanged.

Argentine crop is officially placed at 78,000,000 bu., against 184,000,000 bu. last year, and Broomball's agent says there will be practically nothing for export after supplying home requirements and small quantities to Brazil. Argentine shipments for this week are estimated at 1,000,000 bu., which were materially less than last week's exports, but compared with 96,000 bu. a year ago, French and Russian crop advances are unfavorable.

Corn Under Much Pressure.

Corn was under much pressure and broke sharply. Resting spots showed set declines of 1/2 to 3/4 of 20¢, but closing rally carrying prices up about a cent from the bottom. Heavy selling by cash houses in view of hedging against purchases of cash corn in the country was an early feature, and there was also much unloading by houses conspicuous on the buying side Wednesday. Sales by the country were said to have been the largest in weeks, seaboard people buying as well as local interests. It was understood that the seaboard bids for No. 3 corn in central Illinois were equal to $1.00 at Chicago.

Sales of 1,500,000 bu. for export, including business done Wednesday, were reported made at the seaboard and Gulf. Local shipping sales were 5,000 bu. and cash corn here was 10¢ higher. Argentine shipments for the week estimated at 2,500,000 bu., but it was understood that the seaboard bids for No. 3 corn in central Illinois were equal to $1.00 at Chicago.

Oats Follow in Decline.

Oats followed wheat in decline to lower levels, finishing 1/2 to 3/4 of 20¢ lower. Houses with seaboard connections were again heavy buyers and it was reported that local interests had sold 5,000,000 bu. to seaboard exporters for the week ending Jan. 4. However, the weakness in the other pits caused much local selling and depressed the market. Cash oats were 1/2 to 3/4 of 20¢ higher. Clearances from the seaboard were 60,000 bu., compared with 72,000 bu. a year ago. The Argentine crop is officially placed at 35,000,000 bu., against 80,000,000 bu. last year.

Provisions closed firmer, partly in sympathy with a higher hog market at the yards and also due to short covering in lard and investment buying of ribs. Stockyard interests sold on the bulge. Trade in lard was reported as reported sold in all directions. Western markets received 138,500 hogs, against 169,920 a year ago. Liverpool spot lard was 1d higher, bacon and hams 6d lower. Local meat shipments were 6,000 hogs, against 2,500,000 lbs. a year ago, and lard shipments were 1,222,000 lbs., against 1,747,000 lbs. last year.

Rye Active and Strong. Rye was strong with No. 2 selling at $1.41 1/2. No. 3, 71¢. No. 4, 61¢. Receipts were 20 cars. Barley ruled 10¢ higher. Malt was quoted at $1.00 1/2 and sold $1.00 1/2. Feed and mixing quotable, 90¢ 1/2. Local malted barley was 6¢ higher, quoted, 40¢ 1/2, and skimmings, 40¢ 1/2, former selling at 39¢ 1/2. Receipts, 78 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet. March, 83¢ bid and 82¢ asked. Wheat lots sold at $1.40. Cloverseed ruled steady, with cash lots quoted $12.00 1/2. Flaxseed closed 1/2 lower, with cash on track quoted $2.00 1/2 nominal. Minneapolis was 1/2 lower, 1/2 higher and Winnipeg unchanged.

NEW APPAREL FOR SOUTHERN AND MID-SEASON WEAR

The Women's and Misses' Apparel Sections Feature Charming Displays
January Sales with Their Unusual Buying Opportunities Are in Effect

Women's Costumes for Day Wear

Have Extreme Chic to Recommend Them

Above: Wool Jersey Frock elaborately embroidered with beads and overcollar of chiffon. Price $75. Sixth Floor, South Room.

They embody so many of the very newest ideas that they are certain to interest the woman considering toilettes for Southern or mid-season town wear. They have that freshness of design which is so welcome with the first pleasant weather. The Women's Costume Section is showing numbers of models equally as interesting as the four sketched—for day, sports and dress wear.

Above: Delightful flesh-tinted Frock of soft soiree taffeta daintily embroidered with metal threads on the large new collar, narrow cuffs and skirt band. Price $42.50.

THE ANNUAL JANUARY SALES

Corsets—The Sixteenth Annual Sale

Many models have been developed for this selling and are priced at savings during this month. Corset requirements should be anticipated and supplied at this time.

A Misses' and Slender Figure Style—Roslyn No. 659—$3.00

This is sketched at the center of the group—made of an attractively patterned batiste, with elastic gores in the skirt.

For the Average Figure—The "Madeleine"—priced at $5

This, illustrated at the center, is made of handsome pink broche.

Fifth Floor, South Room.

NEW—Misses' Venetian Silk Underwear

Envelope Chemises $2.95-$4.25 Vests $2.00 Knickerbockers $2.50-$2.95

This Underwear has been designed and made especially for the girl in her teens, although the woman who wears small sizes will profit also by this specialization.

The smaller sizes, requiring less material, were purchased at prices which would not have been offered had the larger sizes, from forty-four and under, been included. Sketched is one of the Envelope Chemises offered, made in Empire style. The fabric is of the best obtainable grade. Price $4.25.

Fifth Floor, South Room.

Dainty French and Philippine Lingerie at Special January Sale Prices—$1.50 to $3.50

Thirty-first Annual Sale

This collection of Lingerie is one of the proofs of the unusual values great special purchases for this month's selling make possible.

French Nightdresses, $1.95

Daintily made, with scalloped sleeves and embroidered front. Sketched at the left of the group. Corset Covers, made in France, hand embroidered, eyelet and spray designs, finished with peplums and drawstrings, $1.95.

Philippine Nightdresses, $1.50

Envelope Chemises, $1.65

The Envelope Chemise is sketched at the right, finished with scalloped edges and made of very fine nainsook. Nightdress is offered to match.

Illustrated in the center is a Philippine hand made Corset Cover, price $2.25. Petticoat, with fine lawn ruffle, hand-scarfed and elaborately hand-embroidered, special at $3.50. Fifth Floor, South Room.

Women's New White Skirts of Flannel and Silk Broadcloth Fabrics

The favor accorded the basque-blouse—and Paris dispatches assure that it will be one of the Spring's preferred styles—has intensified the demand for the separate Skirt to an unusual extent. These newest models seem explanation enough of this favor, and are certain to receive consideration from women who are selecting Skirts for wear with dainty blouses for all daytime occasions.

Two interesting styles are illustrated—that at the left of the group being made of the washable broadcloth silk topped with five rows of shirring beneath its tailored belt. Its semi-circular set-in pockets preserve a slender silhouette. Price $18.50.

Sixth Floor, South Room.

At the right of this group is one of the many styles offered in washable flannels. Its large pearl buttons on front and belt and its large, flap-trimmed pockets pronounce it smart for morning wear. Price $12.75.

Women's Newly Purchased Winter Coats and Reductions on Broken Assortments
